

3D9

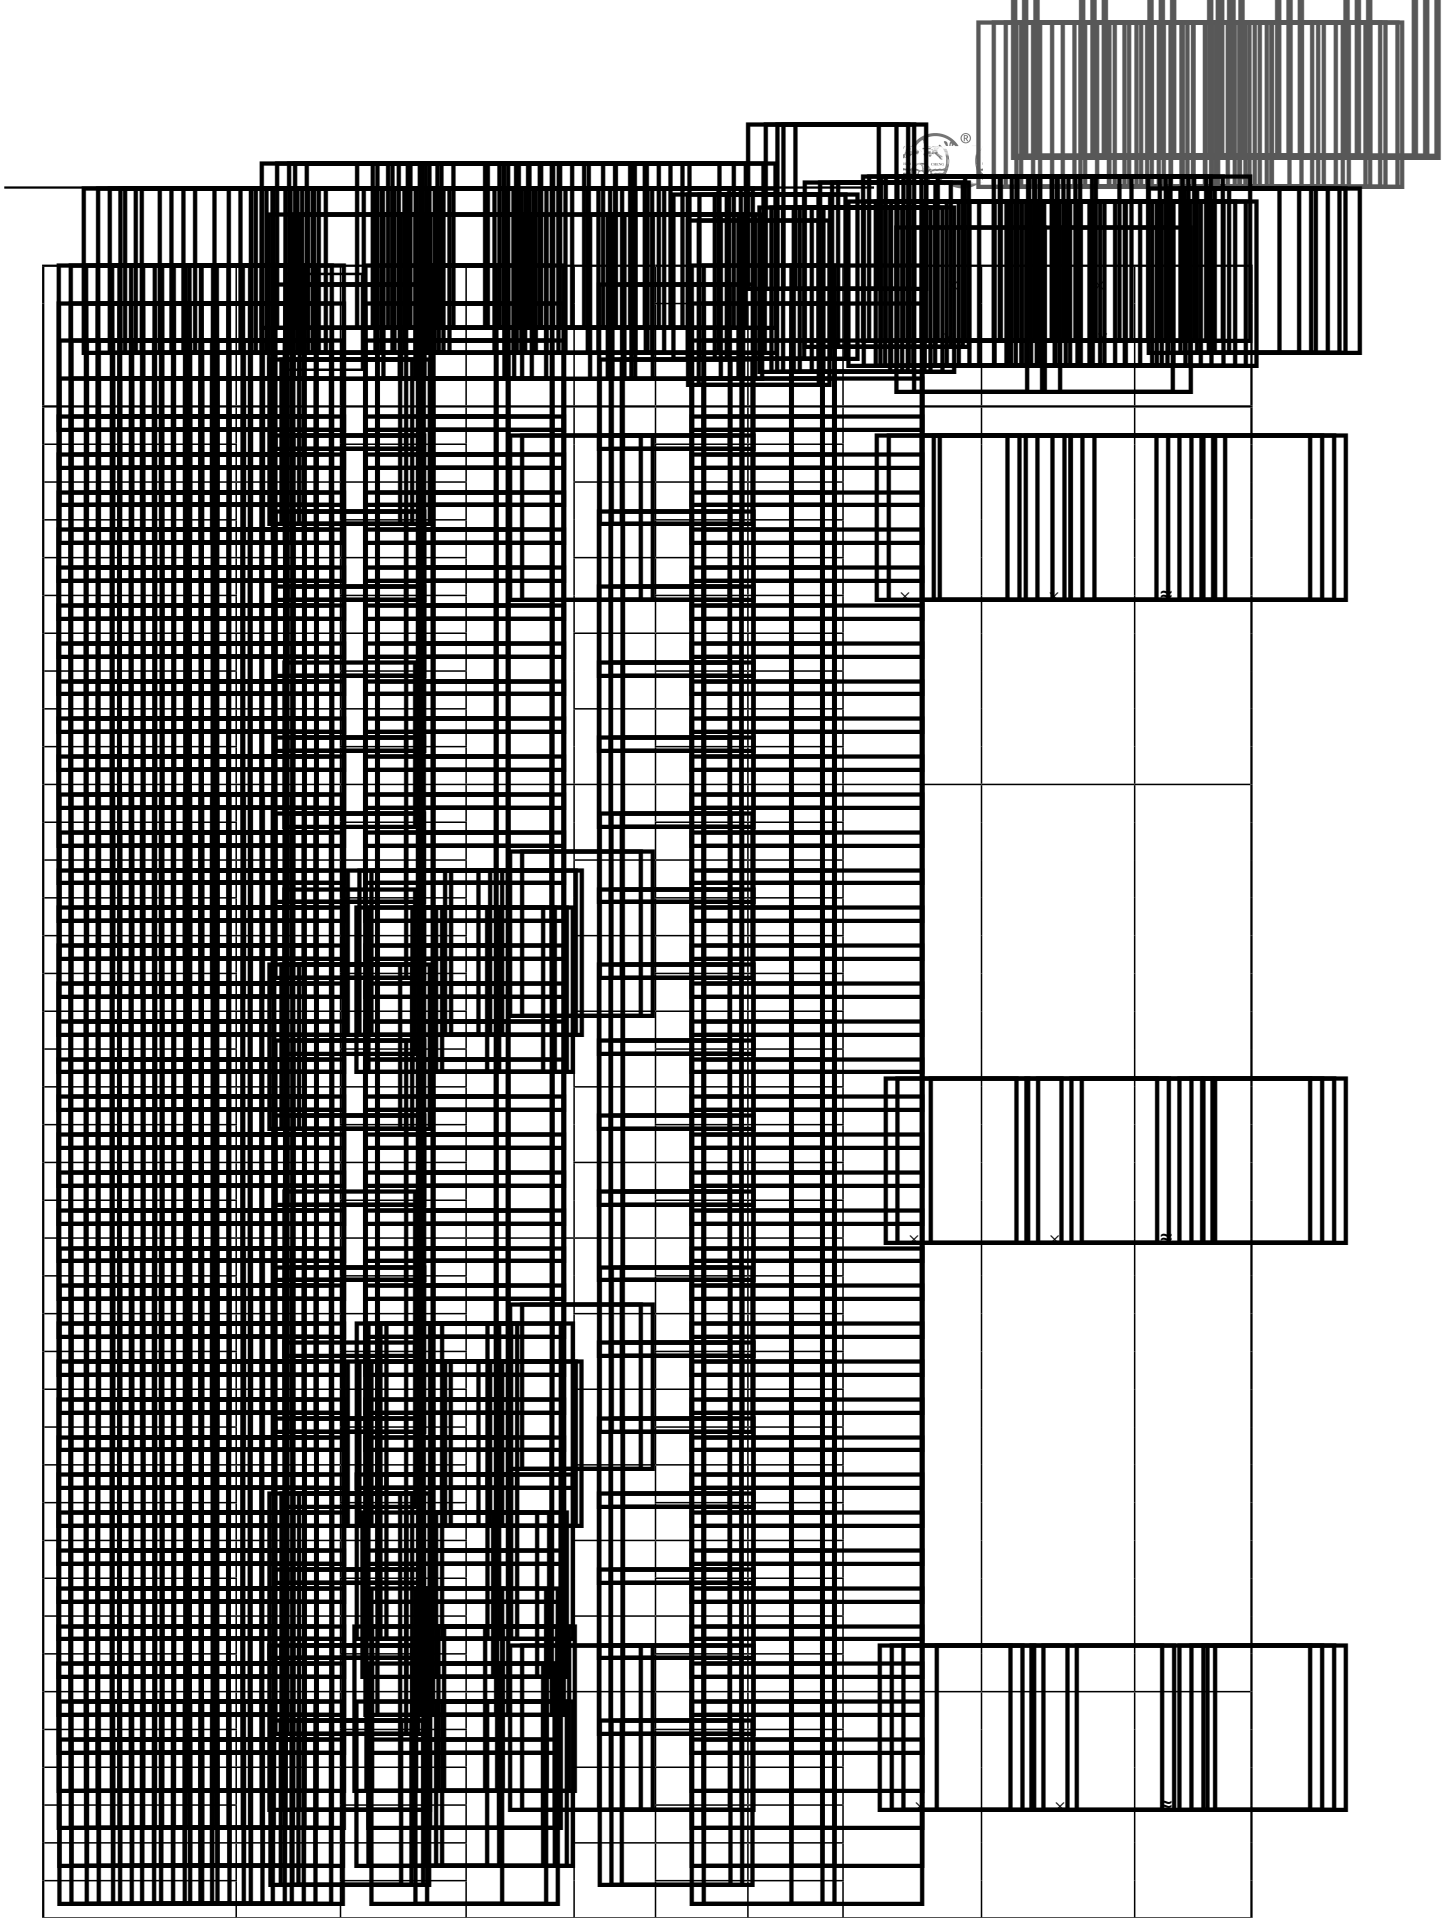

A complex diagram consisting of several overlapping rectangular frames. The top portion of these frames is filled with dense vertical lines, while the bottom portion is a grid. The grid has approximately 10 columns and 15 rows. The overlapping nature of the frames creates a layered effect, with some frames appearing to be in front of others.

